

What is GeneXus?

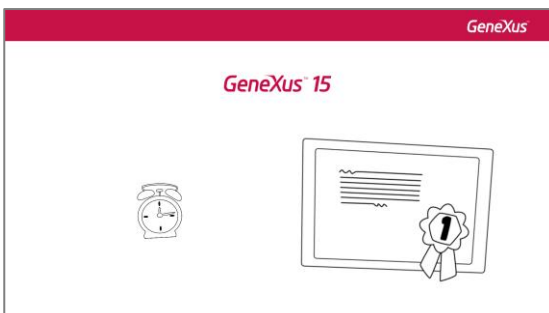

The first question that comes up is: What is GeneXus?

GeneXus is a tool that automatically generates software programs such as applications for the Web, and Smart Devices, always at the forefront of technological evolution.

GeneXus is aimed at achieving working applications in the shortest possible time and with the highest possible quality

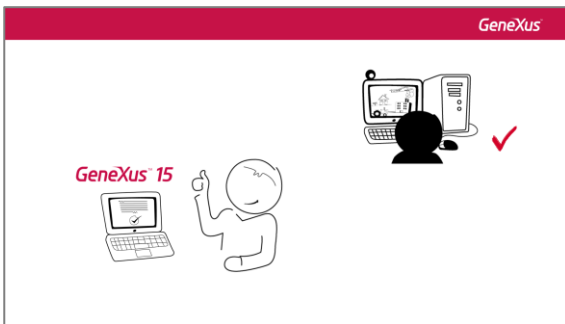

To this end, GeneXus frees developers from tasks that can be automated, such as writing code, which allows them to focus on those tasks that can't be automated, such as understanding the users' needs.

Basically, the GeneXus Analyst's work consists of understanding and describing the users' reality, and GeneXus automatically generates many useful features that make it possible to quickly create a ready-to-use application.

